ADMINISTRATIVE HISTORY/BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH	In 1931, a group of Powell River businessmen formed the Powell River District Retail Credit Association. The purpose of the Association was to establish a system of credits and to ensure that money owed to members by debtors was paid in an orderly fashion. The scope of matters considered by the Association gradually expanded to include other economic issues, and the Association applied to become a Board of Trade under the federal Board of Trade Act, receiving its charter in September 1933. The Board changed its name to the Powell River and District Board of Trade in 1942 to reflect that it represented the communities of Wildwood, Cranberry and Westview. It reverted to its original name in 1958 after the amalgamation of these communities into the District of Powell River. In September 1960, following the lead of the BC Chamber of Commerce and other local bodies, the Board of Trade changed its name to the Powell River Chamber of Commerce. Since its inception in the 1930s, the Chamber and its predecessors served as a lobbying force for better roads, public health, and improved air and water transportation links to the Powell River area. The Chamber also lobbied for changes in business taxes and related legislation, conducted economic studies and presented various business seminars for its members. In addition, the Chamber also promoted tourism as a secondary industry for the area by means of constructing the Tourist Information Centre at Westview Wharf in 1963, assisting in the development of the local canoe route, and providing information about the area through answering inquiries and publishing brochures.

Powell River Chamber of Commerce fonds. -- 1931-1990. -- 3.35 m. of textual records.

In 1931, a group of Powell River businessmen formed the Powell River District Retail Credit Association. The purpose of the Association was to establish a system of credits and to ensure that money owed to members by debtors was paid in an orderly fashion. The scope of matters considered by the Association gradually expanded to include other economic issues, and the Association applied to become a Board of Trade under the federal Board of Trade Act, receiving its charter in September 1933. The Board changed its name to the Powell River and District Board of Trade in 1942 to reflect that it represented the communities of Wildwood, Cranberry and Westview. It reverted to its original name in 1958 after the amalgamation of these communities into the District of Powell River. In September 1960, following the lead of the BC Chamber of Commerce and other local bodies, the Board of Trade changed its name to the Powell River Chamber of Commerce.

Since its inception in the 1930s, the Chamber and its predecessors served as a lobbying force for better roads, public health, and improved air and water transportation links to the Powell River area. The Chamber also lobbied for changes in business taxes and related legislation, conducted economic studies and presented various business seminars for its members. In addition, the Chamber also promoted tourism as a secondary industry for the area by means of constructing the Tourist Information Centre at Westview Wharf in 1963, assisting in the development of the local canoe route, and providing information about the area through answering inquiries and publishing brochures.

The fonds consists of minutes, constitutional records, newsletters, correspondence, membership records, financial records and files pertaining to affiliated organizations and various activities undertaken by the Chamber and its predecessors. Includes correspondence with the District of Powell River and other chambers at the regional, provincial and national level; subject files pertaining to local ferry services and other transportation issues, the construction of the Tourist Information Centre, economic studies and the proposed natural gas pipeline. Includes records of various Chamber committees, such as the Tourism Committee (formerly the local Tourism and Industrial Development Commission), Miss Powell River Committee and the Roads and Transportation Committee.

Roads and Transportation Committee. -- 1963-1972. -- 3 cm. of textual records.

The Roads and Transportation Committee was established by the Chamber to examine transportation links with the Powell River area, including roads, ferries, airports and harbours.

Subseries consists of correspondence, reports and subject files of the Roads and Transportation Committee. Includes subject files pertaining to ferries, roads, airports, harbours and the highway sign.

Title based on the contents of the subseries.

Subseries may include records of other transportation-related committees of the Chamber.

Tourism Committee. -- 1968-1989. -- 60 cm of textual records.

In 1968, the District of Powell River passed Bylaw 536 to establish the Tourist and Industrial Development Commission. Funded by the District, the Commission was designed to attract new industries and tourists to Powell River. To accomplish this task, the Commission operated the Tourist Information Bureau during the summer months, published brochures promoting the area, and solicited convention and tour business. In 1978, the Commission's terms of reference were revised to remove responsibility for industrial development, and it became the Tourist Development Commission. Following negotiations between the Chamber and the District in 1984, the Commission was restructured as the Tourism Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, with the mandate to promote tourism in Powell River and district.

Subseries consists of minutes and agenda, correspondence, visitor statistics and subject files pertaining to the activities of the Tourism Committee and its predecessors. Includes subject files on ferry services, promotional events, advertising, Sea Fair celebrations, the development of the 1984 tourism strategy, and relations with various tourism-related organizations.

Title based on contents of the subseries.

Sea Fair files are those of Al Mantoani, who served as both the chairman of the Tourist and Industrial Commission as well as a director of the Sea Fair Festival. Records of both organizations may be mixed in the files.

Visitors Development Committee. -- 1965-1967. -- 1 cm of textual records.

The Visitors Development Committee was established by the Chamber ca. 1963 to promote tourism in the Powell River area through publicizing local events and facilities.
